

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Somerset Record Society.

SINCE the issue of the last Report, the Somerset County Council has made a grant to the Society for the purpose of putting in order and preparing for the press a volume of early Quarter Sessions Records. These documents fall into three classes: Recognizances, taken before a justice of the Peace ; Indictments and Presentments, made by the Authorities ; and Orders of the Court, containing the mature judgment of the Magistrates. In addition to the original documents, there are also a series of Minute Books, unhappily not quite complete, from which it should be possible to reconstruct the actual business of the County on the civil as well as on the criminal side ; and to perceive the way of the transgressors after their conviction. Few counties have a fuller series of records, and fewer still, the minutes which will supply a key to the whole.

While the scanty rolls still remaining of the reign of Elizabeth will be included, the greater part of the volume, supplying the issue for 1906, will contain the documents belonging to the reign of James I. (1603-1625). The Civil War, the Commonwealth, or the reign of James II. might supply subjects of greater interest and novelty ; even, as the correspondence in a weekly Review has prognosticated, to the settlement of the question whether there were any Doones on Exmoor before 1869. But it is in the reign of the first Stuart king that men's minds and tongues began to consider the problems of government, political and ecclesiastical, which were to be so stubbornly applied in the reign of his successor.

The present volume completes the series of Medieval Wills, edited for the Society by the Rev. F. W. Weaver. It is a valuable work perhaps only equalled by the Testamenta Eboracensia of the Surtees Society.

During the past year the number of subscribers has been diminished by five deaths and two resignations. Four new members have joined, bringing the total number down to 113, a decrease of three on the last list.

Preface.

THIS book is a continuation of the XIXth Volume of the Somerset Record Society. It consists of full abstracts of Wills at Somerset House, from 1531 to 1558, from the following registers :—

1531-33 Thower.	1550 Coode.
1536-40 Crumwell.	1551 Bucke.
1533-36 Hogen.	1552 Powell.
1537-39 Dyngeley.	1553-54 Tashe.
1540-41 Alenger.	1554-56 More.
1541-43 Spert.	1556 Ketchyn.
1544-45 Pynnyng.	1557 Wrastley.
1546-47 Alen.	1558 Noodes.
1548-49 Populwell.	1558-59 Welles.

It has been found more convenient to give the notes at the end of the volume instead of in the form of footnotes. Incidentally the wills throw great light upon many things about which it would be difficult to find information elsewhere.

They show, for instance, that leprosy was fairly common in our county at this date. There were at least two colonies of lepers in Somerset, one near Langport, and the hospital of St. Margaret, near Taunton. It appears that the Langport hospital was at Westover (p. 111), midway between that town and the parish of Curry Rivel.

In going through the VIth volume of Papal Registers, the Editor found the following interesting account relating to this hospital :—

1412 To the Bishop of Wells—Mandate to license the 5 Kal. April, lepers, poor, and infirm of the house situate within St. Peter's Rome. the bounds of the parish church of Curry Rivel and the town of Lamport in his diocese—which house is distant an English mile from the said church, on account of which distance it is at times inconvenient to carry bodies thither for burial, according to custom, so that, burial being delayed, on account of the smell men are seldom found willing to carry such bodies,—to have at their chapel of St. Mary Magdalen a cemetery of their own blessed by any catholic bishop in communion with the Apostolic see.

[Papal Registers, VI, 245.]

Besides leprosy, plague and pestilence were terribly rife. On May 19, 1538, William Kyppyng of Buckland Dynham, leaves the residue of his goods to his wife Jone, with this proviso, that "if she departe of this plague now," then his friend Edward Whytt shall have the charge of his children, and there is another reference to the pestilence at p. 21.

These plagues began in 1529 with the "Sweating Sickness," and culminated in the great plague of 1563, which broke out among the English soldiers closely besieged in Havre by the French. The town was delivered up July 20, 1563, the infected garrison immediately returned and brought the plague to this country.—(See Peacock's Church Furniture, p. 61*n*.)

On March 25, 1540, Alice Pycke, of Glastonbury, leaves 3*s*. 4*d*. "to the four principal lights" in St. John's church there.

I assume that these four lights were :

1. Light before the high altar.
2. Light before B.V.M.
3. Rood light.
4. Dead light.

The last light has many names—lumen Animarum, lumen defunctorum, and “alsolen” light (see S.R.S., XIX, xxii, xxiii).

That these are the four lights meant is borne out by the following quotation from Mr. Hart’s Ecclesiastical Records (1st Edn., 1836, p. 221).

“In Ireland in the fifteenth century there were at least three images in every church, the Virgin Mary, the Crucifix and the Patron Saint.”

On April 8th, 1548, we have the first mention

“of the common box of the church of ——— for the relief of the poor” (p. 99.)

Edward VI., through his uncle the Duke of Somerset, early in the first year of his reign (1547), issued Injunctions to the clergy and others. These “Injunctions given by the most excellent prince Edward VI. by the grace of God King of England, France and Ireland, defender of the faith and in earth under Christ of the church of England and Ireland the supreme head. To all and singular his loving subjects, as well of the clergy as of the laity,” are to be found at the beginning of Wilkins’s Concilia, Vol. IV, though, oddly enough, the exact date is not there given.

After ordering the destruction of images, the Injunctions proceed (p. 7):—

Also they shall provide and have within three months after this visitation a strong chest, with a hole in the upper part thereof to be provided at the cost and charge of the parish, having three keys, whereof one shall remain in the custody of the parson, vicar or curate, and the other two in the custody of the churchwardens . . . which chest you shall set and fasten near unto the high altar, to the intent the parishioners should put into it their oblation and alms for their poor neighbours; and the parson shall from time to time exhort them to give to the said chest, declaring unto them that whereas heretofore they have been diligent to bestow much substance otherwise than God commanded upon pardons, pilgrimages, trentalls, decking of images, offering of candles, giving to friers and upon other like blind devotions, they ought at this time to be much more ready to help the poor and needy, etc., etc.

We have seen that this chest was established at Langford Budville by April 8, 1548 (p. 99), and in succeeding wills during Edward's reign there are constant references to it. The word "chest" does not seem to have been much used in Somerset; it is alluded to under the following names :—

Almes coffer, 115.
 Church box, 121.
 Common box, 99, 149.
 Common coffer, 100.
 Poor men's box, 101, 105, 110, 113, 119, 122, 131, 134 (bis), 140, 150, 152, 180.
 Poor men's coffer, 115.

Edward VI. died July 6, 1553, after which we do not hear of the poor men's box during Mary's reign.

The following table may be headed :—

Monastic Spoil.

It gives a list of parsonages or vicarages which formerly belonged to the dissolved monasteries, the monastery being given in brackets :—

Baltonsborough (Glastonbury), 81.
 Bridgwater (St. John's Priory), 181.
 Butleigh (Glastonbury), 81.
 Charlton Queen (Keynsham), 91.

 Dunster (Dunster), 212.
 Durligh (St. John's Priory, Bridgwater), 181.
 Kilmersdon (Buckland), 181.
 Kilton (Bath), 212.
 Kingston (Taunton), 68.

Kyrton* (Buckland,) 181.
 Midsomer Norton (Merton), 32.
 Minehead (Bruton), 212.
 N. Petherton (Buckland), 181.
 S. Petherton (Bruton), 95.
 Shepton Montague (Bruton), 87.

Other spoil will be found in the Index Rerum under the heading "Dissolved Monasteries."

I have to acknowledge an error into which I fell in the very first page of the last volume of wills (S.R.S. XIX, 1).

The Mompesson family were not of Bathampton, Somerset, but of Great and Little Bathampton, in the parish of Steeple Langford, Wilts.

Two pedigrees of the family will be found at pages 60 and 96 of the Visitation of Wiltshire in 1623, edited by my friend the late Dr. G. W. Marshall.

In conclusion, I beg to thank all those who have kindly helped me with the notes, and especially Mr. Falconer Madan, F.S.A., of the Bodleian Library, who has always most courteously replied to my very numerous queries, and has given me on divers occasions most valuable help; my best thanks are also due to my old friend Canon C. H. Mayo, and to my nephew J. R. H. Weaver, who has often examined books for me at the British Museum, and elsewhere.

The probate clause is followed by depositions of witnesses produced by Isabel Cole, executrix, testifying with reservations, to the validity of the above will, made before Master John Dawes bachelor in the Law in the presence of John Gye notary public, Master Robert Beckm of Wells, Sir James Bayly clerk, Sir John Martyn chaplain, and Raulin Webb of Bristol, September and October, 1543:—

“Henry Whyte, Maior of the city of Bristoll aged 60 years, said that about six or seven days before the testator's death, who died about Bartillmewtyde, was five years, the said testator began to make his testament who was three or four days in making of the same, and further, that he, two or three days before his death then lying in his bed in a certain high chamber situate within the late house of Fryer Augustynnes in Bristow, caused his said testament to be read, but by whom this deponent doth not now remember, before this deponent, Maister Nycholas Sandforde then pryor of the said house of Augustynne Fryers, one Maister Mychaell Doctor of Phisicke, Thomas Thorne, Richard Cole, Isabell Barbor and Margery Marshall, all they giving care to the reading of the said testament and the said testator likewise hearkened to the reading of the same, and then and there subscribed the same with his own hand; and also he saith that the said testator both when he began to make his said testament and also when it was read before him was, and so continued until death, of perfect and good remembrance. And further he saith that the testament shewed and read to this deponent doth agree in all points with the testament so made by the testator and read before him.” (September 14th, 1543.)

A similar deposition by Margery Marshall wife of Richard Marshall of the city of Bristoll, aged 40 years. Also by Isabell Barbor (als Cole) wife of John Barbor of the parish of St. Nicholas, Bristol, aged 22 years, born at Wells, except that “she does not remember that the said testator bequeathed to Friar Lawrence, Friar Parker, Friar Robert and Friar Pynner of the late house of Friars Augustynnes of Bristoll, 10s. each.” “She heard and saw one Maister Popley read the said testament openly” before the witnesses as abovesaid. (September 15th, 1543.) Also by Sir Nicholas Sandforde, clerk, perpetual vicar of the parish church of Bedminster where he has been vicar for three years and more, before which he was for four years Prior of the house of Friars Augustine now dissolved, born at Thorpe Salvyn co. York, aged 50 years and more ; except that "he does not remember that the said testator bequeathed 20 marks in the hands of Master Seintlowe, knight, to the daughters of the said Isabel Cole ; also he said that the said testator willed 20s. towards the reparations of a Conduete of water in Bristoll . . . and that the said testament was read by Master Popley in the presence of Master Henry White late Maior of Bristol, Master Bythemore, a certain Master Michael doctor in medicine, Thomas Thorne potycarie, Margery Marshall, Isabel Cole, sister of the said deceased and Richard Cole son of the said Isabel." (September 20th, 1543.) Also by Thomas Thorne, "pharmacapola anglice pottycary" of the parish of St. Thomas the Apostle in the city of Sarum, where he has dwelt for 20 years, born at Rumsey, aged 40 years and more, being the said Browne's pottycary in his sickness ; produced as a witness by Richard Cole son of the said Isabel Cole, in the name of his mother, in the house of Robert Neckton, in the said parish. And if he die before the end of his prentishod the said money shall return to my said cousen Elizabeth, provided the said John shall not be bound prentise for more than seven or eight years at the most. To my said cousin Elizabeth Daye the lease of my parsonage of Stanton Drewe confirmed by the bisshopp and chapter's seales and the tenement and oxe stalle, land and purtinences which I did there purchase in fee simple of Master John Horner the elder, to have for her life if the years of the said lease continue so long. And after her death, if the lease do yet continue, the same to remain to Walter Creting beforenamed and to his heirs male, that is, the lease during the years and the tenement for ever, and for default of such issue, the same to John Creting last beforenamed and his heirs male and for default of such issue, to John Needehm my kinsman, to him and his assigns, provided that if the said Elizabeth my cousen do not with convenient speed after my time dwell upon the said parsonage and tenement herself, then my successor shall, if he will, dwell upon it for so long as he will paying for the same yearly to my said cousin Elizabeth and after her time to Walter Creting and his heirs male or to John Creting or to John Needehm as aforesaid, over and above all other charges and reparations belonging to the same. And if my successor refuse to bear such charges then the said Elizabeth shall for her time make the best of the said premises without making waste, and so likewise after her Walter Creting, John Creting, or John Needehm, desiring every one of them not willing or not able to occupy the said parsonage themselves, to prefer Thomas Fraunces my old servant therunto before any other and to give possession of the said tenement and oxen stall I ordain Maister Geoffry Upton of Wormyster and Thomas Fraunces my servant my lawful attornayes if need so require. To the city or town of Wells £60 to be distributed among six burgesses or occupiers of the said town to be named for the first time by my executors and after that two to be named always by the dean and chapter and four by the maister and burgesses or mayer and burgesses of the said town, and each to have the occupying of £10 for two years and so to be changed every two years and to continue from two year to two year forever for the comon welth of the said town, if God be so pleased, which thing I would should be assured by indentures and bonds to be made by the said Mr and burgesses or Mayo<sup>r</sup> and burgesses to the dean and chapter with as good or better devises as is made for the disbursing of £100 to ten burgesses every two years for ever given by one Richard Brampston als. Smyth for that purpose always understanding that the said six burgesses shall be bound for the true repayment of the several sums at the end of every two years to the maister or Maior and xxiiij chief Burgesses of the said town. And as the meaning of the said Richard Brampston als. Smyth was that the disbursing of the said £100 to ten burgesses should be renewed to other ten burgesses every two years and so to have continuance for ever as far as the witte and power of man might reach even so is my meaning also. And therefore if it shall be seen to my executors that the obligations made for the assurance of Master Branston's will touching that part may be amended, I most heartily desire them to cause it so to be because he did put me in some trust for the same.

Executors: my lord Gilbert Bourne, Bisshop of Bath, Mr. Richard Dey of Litill Sainte Barthilomewe's parish beside Smythfelde in London and Mr. Geoffrye Upton of Wormester beside Welles, gentilmen. To Sir Thomas Hooper of Welles, clerke, 40s. and one of my good puke gowns. To Symon Porter my kinsman a joynd bedsteade that standeth over my larder house at Wells with the Celer, curtaynes and testor. To Thomas Fraunces my servant the joynd bedsteade standing over the kechin at Stanton with celer curtaynes and testor. To Mr. Thomas Dey brother to the said Mr. Richard Dey, Mr. John Heywood servant to the Quene's Ma<sup>te</sup>, Maister Giles White of Bristow, merchante and to my cousin Porters wife and to John Irishe fermor of my benefice of Kyngeston to each of them a litill Jeomye or hoope of golde of the value of 20s. To Sir Vincent my curate of Kyngeston my best short riding gown. To Joane Scutt a poor woman of Welles that helpeth many times to brewe as much cloth of 5s. the yard as will make her an honest kirtill. And bicause I have seen some alteration of mynde in my freendes by importunitie whan they have been in payne I do now therefore protest before God and all the worlde that whoo shall in my seekenes tyme cause me by importunitie or other meane to alter any parte of that which I have before disposed touching my leases or landes being in veray good helth thanckes be geven to God that it shall not be my free will but a very forced will contrary to my free will, not meanyng but that I may in the tyme of my seekenes be put in remembraunce of some thinges that I have now forgotten wherunto I may then and now perchaunce I woulde also agree unto if I did now rememb<sup>r</sup> them. And therefore the alteration, if any suche happyn, if it be not against my expectacion it must needes be utterly against my wille.

The residue I desire my executors to bestow amongst my poor kynnerede and somewhat by the advice of my cousin Elizabeth Daye having chief respect to those of my kynne which be likely by the said help to gather some increase and profit and having some respect unto Walter Creting and John Creting before-named.

July 22nd, 1557. Dame Jone, Lady Wadham of Meryfeld, co. Somerset, wydowe. My body to be buried in the parish church of Ilton if it please God to call me from my house of Meryfyld. To the cathedral church of Wells 12*d*. To the churches of Ilton, Whitlackyngton, Abbotes Ile and Fyffet a noble apiece. To my son Christofer Cheverell the elder and to Christopher Cheverell the younger, son and heir apparent of the said Christopher Cheverell the elder, my basen and ewer of silver for my will is that the said basen and ewer should always remain to the heirs of the house of Chauntmarell. Whereas my said son Christopher Cheverell hath received of me £100 and above and hath as yet made none accompt unto me for the same, I bequeath unto him all the said sum. To my daughter Elizabeth Cheverell two of my best gowns and kyrtilles. To Jane Wogan, widowe, as well £15, for payment whereof she standeth bound to me, as also all other money that she had of me. I will that 300 marks be received out of my stockes and stores of goods for the marriage and preferment of Philipp Cheverell my said son's youngest daughter ; my servants William Bevin and Marten Poster to have the custody of the said money until her marriage and if she die, to divide it amongst her brothers. I will that my said son Christopher Cheverell, William Bevin and Martyn Poster shall have the Wardeshipp of my warde Edward Barough, and that he shall be kept to scoole and virtuously brought up until he be 21 years of age, and if he marry with their goodwill and consent then I bequeath to the said Edward his Wardeshipp and all the appurtenances and comodities thereunto belonging ; and if he do not, then all such sums of money or other comodities that ought to come to me by reason of the said Wardeshipp shall revert unto Barba Barough his sister. To the said Edward all such rents as I have collected upon the land of the said Edward by reason that I was Wardeyne in Socage unto him, the deductions that I have made for his meat, drink, apparell and teaching according to one booke of Accompte my Bayliffes and me thereof made, only excepted. If he die before the said age, the said Barba his sister shall have all the said superplussage that shall remain of the said rents. To the said Barba £500. if she contract matrimoni or promys her self in mariage to any man before the full age of 20 years with the goodwill of my son John Wadham Esquier, the said Christopher Cheverell, William Bevin and Martyn Pester. If she die before the said age and not be married the said £500 shall remain to the said Edward her brother. I will that the said £500 shall remain in the custody of the said William Bevin and Martyn Pester to whose honest keeping I have committed the said Barbara. To the said Edward Barough one standing cup and my best pair of vestments. To Florens Wadham six yards of black sattyn to make her a gown. To Marye Bevin my best woursted gowne. - 30 10 The students of Glastonbury (at Oxford). The Oxford students from Glastonbury went to Gloucester College. "This was originally a college for the monks of St. Peter's Abbey, Gloucester, but about 1290 it was enlarged, and became a joint college for several of the principal Benedictine Abbeys. It occupied the site of the present Worcester College, and on the old staircases there are still to be seen the arms of the principal Benedictine monasteries showing where each set of students lived." Wood's City of Oxford O.H.S. xvii, 255. These have now nearly all disappeared; an account of what does remain is given in Daniel and Barker's History of Worcester College (College Histories) pp. 29-35, but in July, 1905, I was fortunate enough to discover the arms of Glastonbury Abbey built into the back of the outside wall of the present kitchen, defaced, but still clearly recognizable. It is described in the above book (p. 35) as a shield bearing a cross bottony, a rose (?) in the dexter chief: but to any one who has seen the Glastonbury Abbey coat, it is obvious that it is not a rose, but a weather-worn image of the B.V.M. and Holy Child.

- 36 28 sigillum pannorum. The seal or stamp on the cloth.
- 37 4 Rowlands. This fine old house in the parish of Ashill still stands (see Collinson, I, 10).
- 37 5 Gownyngham's Ile. The family of Goundenham is mentioned, S.R.S., xvi, 19; and xix, 310.
- 37 19 a fyne (or recovery, p. 41), the compromise of a fictitious suit for the possession of lands formerly in use when the ordinary modes were not available. See S.R.S. Feet of Fines, vol. vi (Introduction).
- 38 10, 12 Secundario meo . . . annuellar. An "annuellar" was a priest who sang anniversary masses. Secondaries were clerks of an inferior grade to the annuellars. Mr. Hingeston-Randolph kindly wrote me a letter in 1890 in which he says: "There were 12 secondaries in Exeter Cathedral, they and the annuellars occupied the second form or rank; they were clerici secunde forme, and were always or nearly always in orders below that of priest. When Grandison visited the cathedral he took the names of all from the Dean downwards, and they are recorded in his register. No secondary was then in priest's orders, there are a few deacons and subdeacons, the rest in minor orders." Walter Trote, Canon of Exeter, in his will (dated November 4th, 1399) left to every Annuellar priest 6*d.*, to each of the Secondaries and to each chorister in like manner 3*d.* Stafford's Register, p. 381.
- 39 2 Burton Lazars (Leic.) . . . Bridport.
- 39 30 John Nase. As prebendary of St. Decuman's he presented to that church in 1530 (Somerset Incumbents, 355). He was evidently a private chaplain to John Clerk, Bishop of Bath and Wells. He had rooms in Bath Place, London, in the palace of Wells, and in the Bishop's mansions at Chew and Banwell.
- 41 19 the first lavatory, see S.R.S., XIX, p. xxi.
- 42 26 hecfords. N.E.D. gives this as one of the many forms of the word heifer.

61	16	John Clerk, Bishop of Bath and Wells, 1523-41. The Dictionary of National Biography says that the Bishop (who was sent by the King on the Cleves Legation) got over his illness sufficiently to be moved to London, where he died. "In 1540 when returning from an embassy to the Duke of Cleves, he fell sick at Dunkirk, it was thought from poison. Believing himself about to die, he directed that he should be buried in the church of Notre Dame at Calais. However he lived to return to England, and died 3 Jan., 1541, and was buried at St. Botolph's, Aldgate." (W. H. in Dict. Nat. Biog. ) But the

- 61 35 amell, now superseded by the compound word en-amel. N.E.D. gives examples of this word ranging from 1340 to 1819. At p. 86 it is spelt animell.
- 63 2 my callyd mare, "a horse with a star in its forehead," see cale (N.E.D.). "A calde mare" occurs in the will of R. Hambryge, 1542 (from the Editor's MS. collection of wills in the Wells District Probate Registry).
- 63 31 burral : beryl, a fine description of crystal. (N.E.D.)
- 63 32 Dansse : i.e., Danish, see N.E.D., which gives the forms Denshe and Danshe.
- 65 10 Hugh Veysie : he was Vicar of Pucklechurch, co. Glos., a benefice still in the gift of the Dean and Chapter of Wells.
- 66 1 Thomas Chard : the testator was Prior of Montacute and Bishop of Selymbria in Thrace. He is a distinct person from his namesake, the last abbot of Ford. See S.A.S. Proc., XXXVII, ii, 11 ; XLII, ii, 67.
- 66 21 Dr. Peter : William Petre was one of the commissioners who received the surrender of the monasteries.
- 67 19 demye : short for demiceint, a girdle having ornamental work only in front. "1524, a demysent with a cheyne." (N.E.D.)
- 68 20 gardyd : ornamented as with lace, braid, embroidery, etc., trimmed. (N.E.D.)
- 70 30 North-weston : i.e., Weston in Gordano (Collinson, III, 171).
- 71 16 Tho. West, instituted rector of Chelworth, September 20th, 1494. Somerset Incumbents, 251.
- 72 18 brand yron, a kitchen utensil, commonly a gridiron, but the name is transferred to other articles as andirons, a trivet, etc. (N.E.D.)
- 73 15 J. Southwood, was vicar of Martock. (Somerset Incumbents, 140.)
- 75 25 a trucker cloth, I cannot find this word in any dictionary, it occurs again, p. 34.
- 76 14 Crown light. Coronae were lustres of a circular form and with candles set round them. They hung from the roof and were frequently in stages representing a crown. Hart's Eccles. Records, 2d. Edn. 240.
- 76 15 cloth ymperiall. A textile fabric in use in the Middle Ages with figures woven in gold, apparently so called as being made at Constantinople. (N.E.D.)
- 77 4 The official index gives Sudbury, Suffolk.
- 80 12 the image of All Saintes. It is not exactly known what this was like. Hart's Eccles. Records (1846), p. 243, says that "an Allhallows was a picture or a sculptured representation of all the Saints."

- 22 22 my daughter Jone late at Buckelande. Jone Hill received a pension of £4 per annum from the dissolved nunnery of Buckland, and was still living February 20th. 1555-6, the date of Pole's Pension book. Archbold. 149.
- 23 17 ~~recessite~~ and ploughboote. The right of a tenant to take fire-wood from off the landlord's estate, similarly wood for mending ploughs. (N.E.D.)
- 23 21 sandpit in the parsh of Broadwindsor, Dorset.
- 24 6 The testatrix was daughter of Sir Humphry Coningsby (see Chatterbuck: Herts. i, 444). She married first, Sir Richard Berkeley of Stoke Gifford, Glos., who died in 1514, and secondly, Sir John FitzJames, Lord Chief Justice. She was the mother of Sir Maurice Berkeley to whom Henry VIII. granted the site of Bruton Abbey.
- 26 28 Dolphyn and Conysse. The arms of the FitzJames and Coningsby families.
- 27 29 Foskewe, i.e., Fortescue.
- 28 9 Maliadus, strictly Maliades, a plural, denoting nymphs who protected the fruit. [μῆλον, an apple.] Theocritus i. 22. Sophocles Philoc. 725.
- 28 16 chapel on the bridge in London. "Besides the private houses there were some other erections which might be considered as forming properly a part of London Bridge. Of these the most famous was a chapel dedicated to St. Thomas à Becket." London, by Charles Knight (1841), I, 81.
- 90 33 paul, a robe, cloak or mantle of rich stuff. (N.E.D.)
- 92 4 Brodwey. There are parishes of this name in Somerset, Dorset and Worcestershire. This is probably Broadway, Dorset.
- 93 30 parrocke. An enclosed place, a paddock. (N.E.D.)
- 93 35 pelstones, probably for peltoues, i.e., pillow-tows or pillow-cases.
- 97 9 Wm. Knight, Bishop of Bath and Wells, 1541-7.
- 98 29 anticke. Antic was not developed from antique, but was a distinct use of the word from its first introduction; it means grotesque in composition or shape (N.E.D.). See Test. Vet., 715.
- 99 32 common box of the church of Langford (see Preface).
Injunctions 1 Ed. VI. (Wilkins' Concilia, IV, 7.) 1547.

Also they shall provide and have within three months after this visitation a strong chest, with a hole in the upper part thereof to be provided at the cost and charge of the parish, having three keys, whereof one shall remain in the custody of the parson, vicar or curate, and the other two in the custody of the churchwardens, which chest you shall set and fasten near unto the high altar, to the intent the parishioners should put into it their oblation and alms for their poor neighbours; and the parson shall from time to time exhort them to give to the said chest, declaring unto them that whereas heretofore they have been diligent to bestow much substance otherwise than God commanded upon pardons, pilgrimages, trentalles, decking of images, offering of candles, giving to friers and upon other like blind devotions, they ought at this time to be much more ready to help the poor and needy, etc.

Injunctions given by the most excellent prince Edward VI. by the grace of God, King of England, France and Ireland, defender of the faith, and in earth under Christ of the Church of England and Ireland, the supreme head. To all and singular his loving subjects, as well of the clergy as of the laity.

102 6 my daughter Clynton. Ursula, daughter of Wm. Lord Stourton, married as his second wife Edward, ninth Baron Clinton (1512-1585), first Earl of Lincoln, and was the mother of Edward, tenth Baron Clinton (died 1616).

102 7 my daughter Brent. Dorothy, daughter of Wm. Lord Stourton, married William Brent, of Cossington, Esq., Collinson, III, 436, but according to Test. Vet. 729, she married Sir Richard Brent.

102 13 garnel, a granary or barn. (N.E.D.)

106 29 Stoocke, stook, a style under which water is discharged (Somerset). (Wright's Provincial Dict.)

- existed since the fourteenth century. The rings were presented to the eminent persons who might be present, their value differing greatly: thus in 1429, Sir John Fortescue mentions the most costly rings as being given to any prince, duke, or archbishop and to the Lord Chancellor and Lord Treasurer of England, rings of less value to earls, bishops, and certain officials, of less value again to Members of Parliament and so on. (Century Dictionary.)
- 117 37 fyfte=fifth, cf. fifteene, p. 59.
- 120 14 helen, halling, tapestry or painted cloth for the walls of a hall. (N.E.D.)
- 121 29 Slaves, slay, sley, a weaver's reed. (Worcester's Dictionary.)
- 126 14 my sore gossehawke, goshawk, a large shortwinged hawk (N.E.D.); sore, Fr. saure, sor. sorrell, reddish, both bird and beast are so called from their colour—
1. A hawk of the first year.
  2. A buck of the fourth year.
- 127 12 writing dex of Sipers, i.e., made of cypress wood, "1474, my wryghtyng box of syppress." (N.E.D.)
- 128 7 A. Barqueley, Vicar of Much Badow from 1546, see Holmes's History of Wookey, p. 97, and Wright's History of Essex, I, 117.
- 131 11 Murnney, a mistake for Nunney.
- 131 23 gentishe, probably for Kentish. 1566. Act of 8 Eliz. c. 6, § 2, "anye clothe commonly called Kentyshe clothe." (N.E.D.)
- 134 7 Deannes, Dionisia in Probate clause.
- 138 12 when the great preste was payde: this probably refers to a sum of money paid in lieu of service, when a great "press" was made in the country.
- 138 26 portaguys and crasadoos, portague, a gold coin of Portugal, current in the sixteenth century (Century Dictionary) crusado, a Portuguese coin, bearing the figure of a cross. (N.E.D.)
- 140 19 extree, an axletree, cp. Wyclif's Translation of Ecclus. xxxiii, 5, where occurs axtre (in Purvey extre) ex is the A.S. eax, an axle. Tre is a piece of wood, not a living tree. (Obedientiary Rolls of St. Swithin, Winchester, Hampshire Record Society.)
- 142 5 Herberde. Herbert in Probate clause.
